PROFILE

For a long time I have been venturing into the world of programming, with dedication I learned to program in the area of Web Development as FULL STACK and I have developed various projects as my knowledge has grown.

I am also currently learning different things about technology and skils entrepreneurship, some of them are: BI, AI, Negotiation, English and among others. I consider myself a self-taught person and with a strong attachment to the business world, for this reason I like to learn a little from all areas.
